This table, prepared by the Occupational Research Division of the Department of Manpower and Immigration, has been designed to aid users of the Canadian Classification and Dictionary of Occupations (CCDO) in the reclassification of occupations from the United States Third Edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT) to the CCDO, 1971. It is suggested that users of this table read the CCDO Volume I pages xi - xxii for explanations regarding occupational and industrial terms and titles.

The table is arranged in four columns. The first two show the DOT occupational titles, industry designations (in parentheses), and nine-digit code numbers arranged in the DOT numerical code sequence. These are the titles and code numbers published in the SUFFIX CODES FOR JOBS DEFINED IN THE DICTIONARY OF OCCUPATIONAL TITLES, THIRD EDITION. The last two columns give the CCDO seven-digit occupational code numbers, titles, and industry designations (in parentheses) that are comparable to DOT occupations.

Conversion of DOT to CCDO occupations is based on similarity of work performed, general educational development, specific vocational preparation, DATA/PEOPLE/THINGS functions, occupational titles, and industry designations. Not all DOT occupations compare exactly with their CCDO counterparts; nevertheless, a high degree of comparability exists. Two or more DOT occupations are often combined to form one CCDO occupation; and in some instances, a DOT occupation is converted to more than one CCDO occupation.

Some DOT occupations have no equivalent in the CCDO and are so indicated in the last column by the abbreviation N.E. (no equivalent). This designation applies to occupations that are not applicable in Canada, such as Cotton Grower; to occupations that are obsolete as a result of technological developments, changes in processing, fabricating, or work methodology; and to occupations that are considered to form only part of a Canadian occupation.

Apprentices are not identified by separate titles and definitions in the CCDO, but are classified with the occupations for which they are being trained. The expression "See definition for Term Title, 02.010 APPRENTICE (any ind.)" appears in the last column of the table opposite such DOT titles.

CONVERSION TO FRENCH TITLES

Because the DOT titles were not published in French by the United States Employment Service, a DOT/CCDO conversion table has not been prepared in that language. Users of the DOT who wish to ascertain the equivalent CCDO title in French can obtain it from the CCDO French edition by the following method:

- find the DOT title in the DOT/CCDO Conversion Table and its equivalent CCDO title and code number;
- use the CCDO code number to find the corresponding title in the French edition of the CCDO.

Ce tableau a été conçu par la division des recherches sur les professions, du Ministère de la Main-d'œuvre et de l'immigration, pour aider les usagers de la Classification canadienne descriptive des professions (CCDP) à retrouver et à reclassifier dans l'édition de 1971 de la CCDP, les professions contenues dans la troisième édition du DICTIONARY OF OCCUPATIONAL TITLES (DOT). Il est recommandé, aux usagers de ce tableau, de lire des pages XI - XXII dans le Tome I de la CCDP, afin d'obtenir les renseignements quant aux termes et aux titres des professions et des industries.

Le tableau se divise en quatre colonnes. Dans les deux premières figurent les titres des professions du DOT, les définitions des industries (entre parenthèses) et des numéros de code à neuf chiffres présentés selon la séquence du code numérique du DOT. Ce sont là les titres et les numéros du code publiés dans le SUFFIX CODES FOR JOBS DEFINED IN THE DICTIONARY OF OCCUPATIONAL TITLES, THIRD EDITION. Dans les deux dernières colonnes figurent les numéros de code à sept chiffres des professions de la CCDP, les titres et les définitions des industries (entre parenthèses) qui sont similaires aux professions contenues dans le DOT.

La conversion du DOT à la CCDP se base sur la similitude du travail accompli, sur le degré d'instruction générale, sur la formation professionnelle particulière, sur les fonctions DONNÉES/PERSONNES/CHOSSES, sur les titres des professions et les définitions des industries. Toutes les professions contenues dans le DOT ne sont pas complètement similaires à leurs contreparties de la CCDP; néanmoins, il existe un haut niveau de similitude. Souvent, plusieurs professions du DOT sont combinées pour former une profession dans la CCDP. En certains cas, une seule profession du DOT est convertie en plusieurs professions dans la CCDP.

Certains professions du DOT n'ont pas d'équivalents dans la CCDP, (en anglais, No Equivalent — sans équivalent). Cette désignation s'applique aux professions qui n'existent pas au Canada, telles que COTTON GROWERS (planteurs de coton); aux professions tombées en désuétude par suite des progrès technologiques, des changements survenus dans les procédés, la fabrication ou la méthodologie de travail, et aux professions qui ne constituent qu'une partie d'une profession exercée au Canada.

Les apprentis ne font pas l'objet de titres ni de définitions à part dans la CCDP, mais ils sont classifiés selon les professions pour lesquelles ils reçoivent leur formation. L'expression "See definition for Term Title, 02-010 APPRENTICE (any ind.)" — "Voir la définition sous le titre générique, 02-010 APPRENTI (toutes ind.)" figure dans la dernière colonne du tableau en regard des titres du DOT.

CONVERSION AUX TITRES FRANÇAIS

Comme le Service de placement des États-Unis n'a pas publié les titres du DOT en français, le tableau de conversion du DOT à la CCDP n'a pas été préparé en cette langue. Les usagers du DOT qui veulent trouver dans la CCDP l'expression française d'un titre anglais, peuvent l'obtenir de la façon suivante:

- Rechercher le titre du DOT dans le tableau de conversion du DOT/CCDO de même que le titre et le code équivalents dans la CCDO (anglais);
- Le numéro de code de la CCDO vous donnera le titre correspondant dans la version française, soit la CCDP.
